

I oppose and ask you to turn down the attempt by the Consumer Bankers Association to weaken the effectiveness of Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law. Unsolicited phone contacts for commercial purposes are not welcome on my personal phone. I certainly get plenty of mail from banks, and I would stop that also if I had a way to do it.

Businesses have websites and other means of communication to discover whether or not I want them to send me information. It should be my choice, not theirs.

Respectfully Submitted,
